

Property, Copyright, Right of Use
EuroGlobe Photo Award (Spain)

All of the works awarded prizes in the competition shall become the property of berlinpolis. The copyright and the right to publication of the drafts shall remain with each of the authors. In taking part the participant declares that he/she is the sole creator of the works submitted by him/her to the competition, that he/she has full right of disposal with respect to these works and the related rights of use and that the images are free of the rights of third parties. The participants must also accept responsibility for ensuring that persons photographed, or those who own the rights to photographed works of art or related artistry, as well as those with creator-entitlements to photography used as a basis for the works submitted, after processing or redesign, to the competition, have verifiably consented to the publication and utilization of the photos – including their use for publicity purposes in the context of this competition. The participants shall be liable for damage arising from any failure to ensure that the required consent of third parties has not been obtained. All works submitted may be used by berlinpolis for the online competition and for exhibitions. Legal recourse is excluded.